FAASST STUDENT PODIUMS AT NASA NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS MID-OHIO RACE COURSE – 2007

COLORADO, November 15 / PRNews / - Cody Powell, FAASST graduate and NASA rookie, finished on the podium at the NASA CMC/CMC-2 National Championship race at the Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course last September. The blue #22 CMC Russell Homes Camaro was flawless as Cody held his own against a charging 22 car field. This podium finish followed a qualifying race win, a then track record and a 2007 NASA Rocky Mountain Regional Championship.

"We are so proud of Cody and his accomplishments. He is a wonderful racing talent who knows how to balance a competitive nature with having fun. Many of our rookie students are learning that its ok to win their first year, but Cody just raised the bar to a whole different level" said Judy Faass, owner of FAASST Performance Driving School.

Cody attributes a lot of his success to solid preparation, maximizing his seat time and working with knowledgeable instructors at the FAASST Performance Driving School, "FAASST was a huge part of my racing program this year. I was a complete auto racing rookie, but FAASST brought me up to speed almost immediately as I finished second in my first race and won my second. I believe FAASST was the single most important component of my winning season".

Popularity for the FAASST Performance Driving School continues to grow across the U.S as drivers recognize FAASST to be the #1 School for Maximum Seat Time. FAASST invites all graduates to lap back at all FAASST events to enjoy some uninhibited, private seat time. The school is planning an aggressive national schedule for 2008.
